

How would you design a creative mind?

Could you use your design background to become a teacher of Design & Technology?

As a teacher of Design & Technology, you will help many young minds develop their creative skills. The Cambridge PGCE in Design & Technology puts creativity at the heart of teaching and gives you a Masters level qualification. If you're passionate, enthusiastic and dedicated to education we want to hear from you!

Find out more about becoming a teacher of Design & Technology by visiting the University of Cambridge, Faculty of Education website or by getting in touch with our PGCE office.
