This one-day conference aims to explore diverse designs of practice-based doctoral research and to discuss different ways of disseminating the results to achieve maximum impact. The event is organised to provide opportunities to network and share professional education doctorate practices across a diverse range of topics and contexts. Through discussions we will collaboratively generate a rich and complex terrain of issues, ideas and considerations for development in research practices designed for, and by, educational professionals.

The conference will open with a Keynote presented by Dr. Julia Flutter (Ripples on the surface or making a splash: What happens when educational research goes out into the big, wide world?). This will be followed by EdD Research Community Symposia, paper and poster presentations, and roundtable discussions which have been grouped to maximise conversations within and across:

- Demonstrating the impact of research on professional practice
- Innovating strategies for documenting and communicating findings
- Developing portfolio models of research on professional practice

The day has been organised to provide time for discussion of themes emerging throughout the day and to plan future dissemination and events. Lunch and teatime refreshments will be provided. More information on the programme for the day will be posted on the EdD website:

Booking for the event should be made through http://eddconference2015.eventbrite.co.uk before Friday 19 June.

We welcome non EdD community members to this event and ask that they contribute £5 to cover lunch. Non EdD community members register here: http://bit.do/eddoneday
CALL FOR INDIVIDUAL PAPERS OR POSTERS

Theme: Generating Impact Through Practice-based Doctoral Research
Designed for Educational Professionals.

An excellent opportunity for EdD practitioner-researcher-scholars to share knowledge, ideas and experiences towards developing new frontiers in the era of impact.

CONFERENCE THEMES

- Demonstrating the impact of research on professional practice
- Innovating strategies for documenting and communicating findings
- Developing portfolio models of research on professional practice

If you feel that your contribution lies outside these areas but is still very relevant to the conference theme of ‘Generating impact’ then we would welcome your submission.

Submission of abstracts

Abstracts should be 400 words. The abstracts for each paper should address the following:

- Background to your EdD projects and related topic(s)
- Research questions/focus of enquiry/ies
- Research methods/methodology and/or mapping of literatures
- Theoretical, analytic and interpretive framework(s)
- Research findings and contribution to knowledge
- Impact

Your biographical notes should be no more than 150 words. Presentations will be 20 minutes.

Submission of posters

Research posters are usually A4 or A3 graphic presentations of an aspect (or aspects) of your EdD project(s) (e.g. you might feature 2 or 3 elements as listed bullets for abstracts).

Posters will be displayed on boards during the conferences. Poster viewings will be featured across the lunch hour.

(For an example, see the Faculty Research Poster Display between GS5 and GS4. Guidelines on poster presentations will be posted on Camtools).
