

28 July 2014
University of Cambridge
Faculty of Education
184 Hills Road, Cambridge
CB2 8PQ, UK

keynote speakers:

Barbara Kelly
University of Strathclyde
Editor of Handbook of Implementation Science

Elaine Wilson
University of Cambridge
Senior Lecturer; Co-Director of Teacher Education Reform
Programme in Kazakhstan

implementing implementation science

the science of making interventions effective in real world contexts

This conference provides a much-needed opportunity for practitioners working in education, psychology and social care contexts; academics; policy makers; and stakeholders to explore the evidence and potential offered by Implementation Science. Themes include:

- Bridging the theory to practice gap
- Making interventions effective in real world contexts
- Improving the implementation of evidence-informed programmes in schools
- Implementation issues and how they can be overcome
- Future directions for Implementation Science

call for papers

Researchers and practitioners in education, psychology and social care contexts are invited to submit 200 – 300 word abstracts, detailing a brief outline of their paper, workshop, poster, or symposium. Closing date for submissions is March 28, 2014. See website for details:

<http://www.elcep.org.uk>

registration & submissions now open!