

Accessing and using electronic books via ebooks@cambridge

A brief guide

ebooks@cambridge October 2009

What is an ebook?

It is a searchable full-text electronic version of a print book. You can use an ebook for quick reference, read a chapter, or read the whole book.

ebooks@cambridge

is an initiative of the Cambridge College Libraries Forum. It provides access to electronic versions of more than 1000 of the books most used in Cambridge libraries. They are available to all current staff and students of Cambridge University at any time, from within the University and off campus. The project currently receive financial support from a large number of Colleges and Faculties, the Isaac Newton Trust and the University Library.

Why use ebooks@cambridge?

It may provide a book that you need: the ebook titles have been selected from the most popular in college and faculty libraries, and from reading lists for a range of subjects

You don't have to come to a library: Members of Cambridge University have unlimited access from anywhere with an internet connection, 24 hours a day 7 days a week

It's like the print version, with extras: You can search the text, add bookmarks and add your own notes

What do you need to access an ebook via ebooks@cambridge?

- An internet connection and browser
- Adobe Acrobat Reader
- Raven password (for accessing ebooks@cambridge from outside Cambridge University network)

How to find out which education ebook titles are available via the ebooks@cambridge project:

Go to the Faculty Library website :

<http://www.educ.cam.ac.uk/library/ebooks/>

A full list of ebooks can be accessed via www.sel.cam.ac.uk/ebooks@cambridge/ (click on Our ebook collection)

Accessing ebooks via the Newton catalogue

Records for ebooks@cambridge titles are in all the Newton databases

Select a Newton database in the usual way

To limit Newton search results to ebooks

Basic Search: select “Electronic resources & books” in the Limit To option.

Advanced Search : select the Location: Ebooks.

Or

Carry out a Basic Search and on the search results screen add the filter “Electronic resources & books” from the right hand side of the screen.

To see ebook titles in addition to print titles held by your College or Faculty Library

Carry out a Basic search and set Limit To your College or Faculty Library, or Carry out an Advanced search with Location set to your College or Faculty Library. Your results will include print copies in your chosen library and any relevant ebook records.

Accessing ebooks@cambridge via Newton

e.g. In the basic search enter the words

Bell doing

All ebooks have library location: “Electronic Book”.

Click on the author name to open the full Newton record for the book

Accessing ebooks@cambridge via Newton.

To open an ebook:

Click on the text in “Links” to connect to the full text of the ebook on the supplier site.

You will need a Raven password to access ebooks@cambridge titles from outside the Cambridge University network

Viewing an ebook

When you view an ebook the

Table of Contents is displayed on the left side and the text on the right side.

Click on the headings to expand the contents tree.

You can move around the ebook using the Table of Contents and the navigation bar at the top of the text.

Using ebooks : additional features

Navigating an ebook

To turn the page of an ebook - click on “Next” above the toolbar, or use the “Page” button in the Taylor & Francis DXReader.

Navigate around the book using the Table of Contents on the left (for Cambridge Collections Online, on the lower right).

Take care: If you try to "flick through" from page to page quickly this may lead to you being “locked out” of the ebook by the supplier.

Searching within the text

To search the ebook for specific text – use the search tab or the search box on the left of the screen or the “Find” box in the toolbar above the text.

Setting up an account and creating your own notes

You can save a list of ebook titles and save your own notes for specific ebooks. To do this you have to first set up a personal account with your own username and password. This can be done via the “Notes” tab in MyLibrary and Netlibrary and via the “My Collections” tab in Cambridge Collections Online. In the Taylor & Francis DXReader you can use the “Annotation Manager” button at the top of the screen to add notes.

Further collections of ebooks

The University Library also subscribes to electronic books and services that include electronic books. These are available across the University and include:

- Cambridge Companions Online
- Cambridge Histories Online
- China Digital Library
- Early English Books Online
- Eighteenth Century Collections Online
- Literature Online
- Oxford Reference Online
- Shakespeare Survey volumes
- Columbia International Affairs Online
- Elsevier ScienceDirect
- SourceOECD
- + numerous free ebook collections

For more information see the University Library webpage:
<http://www.lib.cam.ac.uk/electronicresources/ebooks.php>

Copying and printing

You can copy or print from an ebook in accordance with current copyright legislation. There are copyright restrictions on ebooks in the same way there are on printed books, and it is your responsibility to make sure you stay within copyright law. Use of ebooks is monitored and suppliers will withdraw access if evidence of copyright abuse is detected.

If you have questions, feedback or suggestions for ebook titles which should be included in the project

please contact the team at :

ucam-lib-ebooks@lists.cam.ac.uk

for more information about ebooks@cambridge see the project website:

www.sel.cam.ac.uk/ebooks@cambridge