4th February

Arrival and first session

The seminar begins at 9.15 with registration and coffee. The first introductory session is organised in collaboration with the Restorative Justice Consortium who are also running a restorative justice event in London on the 4th February. This joint introductory session will be chaired by David Burrowes MP, Lord Falconer of Thoroton, and David Howarth MP. We anticipate that interested MPs and peers will also attend this first session. It would be good if you could lobby your MP to attend! This first session will take place at:

One Birdcage Walk
Westminster
London
SW1H 9JJ

This is a ten minute walk from the House of Lords. Directions can be found here:

The programme for the joint introductory event, and the rest of the RJC conference day can be accessed here:

11.00 a.m. – 5.00 p.m.

We will need to move promptly to the House of Lords, allowing some time to get through security. Unfortunately, there will therefore be no coffee available at 11.00 a.m. The entrance to the House of Lords that we will use is the visitor entrance, marked 6 on the map that can be accessed below.

We are booked into Room 4 on the Committee Corridor. The rest of the day will run there until 5.00 p.m. Lunch will be served in Cholmondeley Room at 1pm.

Meal

Some people associated with the seminar will be eating together after the seminar in a nearby restaurant. Details on the day.

5th February

We have decided to offer the opportunity for people who would like to continue talking about the seminar to meet on the 5th Feb in London at the Penn Club in Cadbury Room from 10am to 1:30pm. There are one or two places left for this. If you would like to attend, please let Ewa Illakowicz know.

Expenses

We are committed to providing travel expenses for doctoral students. Lunch on the 4th February will be free of charge.
